

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and system is provided for creating and managing a network of electronic collaboration sites.

1. A method for creating and managing a network of electronic collaboration sites, comprising:
2. receiving a request to create a new electronic collaboration site;
3. determining a user profile for the user;
4. determining a set of parameters for the new electronic collaboration site;
5. creating the new electronic collaboration site;
6. storing the new electronic collaboration site in a database;
7. receiving a request to manage an existing electronic collaboration site;
8. determining a user profile for the user;
9. determining a set of parameters for the existing electronic collaboration site;
10. managing the existing electronic collaboration site;
11. storing the managed electronic collaboration site in a database;
12. receiving a request to delete an existing electronic collaboration site;
13. determining a user profile for the user;
14. determining a set of parameters for the existing electronic collaboration site;
15. deleting the existing electronic collaboration site;
16. storing the deleted electronic collaboration site in a database.